

first upstream failure

If this step had been correct while the preceding record stayed the same, could the later failure still have occurred by the observed path?

no

plausible causal boundary

yes

probably a symptom