

the execute-then-log gap
no durable completion

- record intent durably: request(effect_id 42)
the intent survives the worker that wrote it
- attempt A dispatches the request
- external commit: the world changes barrier: an effect accepted outside the orchestration boundary
- acknowledgment lost; worker dies no completion record was ever written
- restart reads the durable pending intent
- attempt B retries with the same effect_id 42
- the boundary returns the prior result, converges, or forces explicit reconciliation

Retries reuse the effect identity; new logical work receives a new key